Concept Exploration: ShopHive Home Screen

Three different design directions for one core screen. Same content (search, categories, products), different strategy.

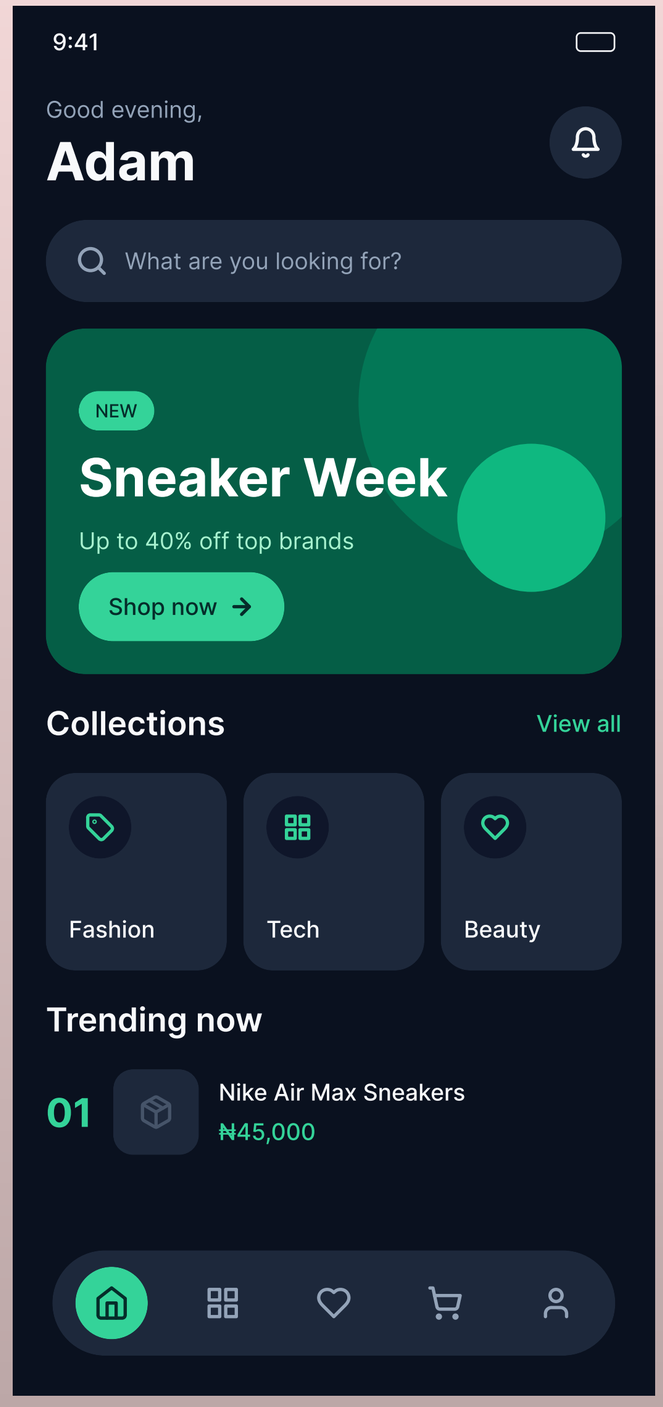

Concept A · Clean Utility

Search-first, high information density, trust through clarity.

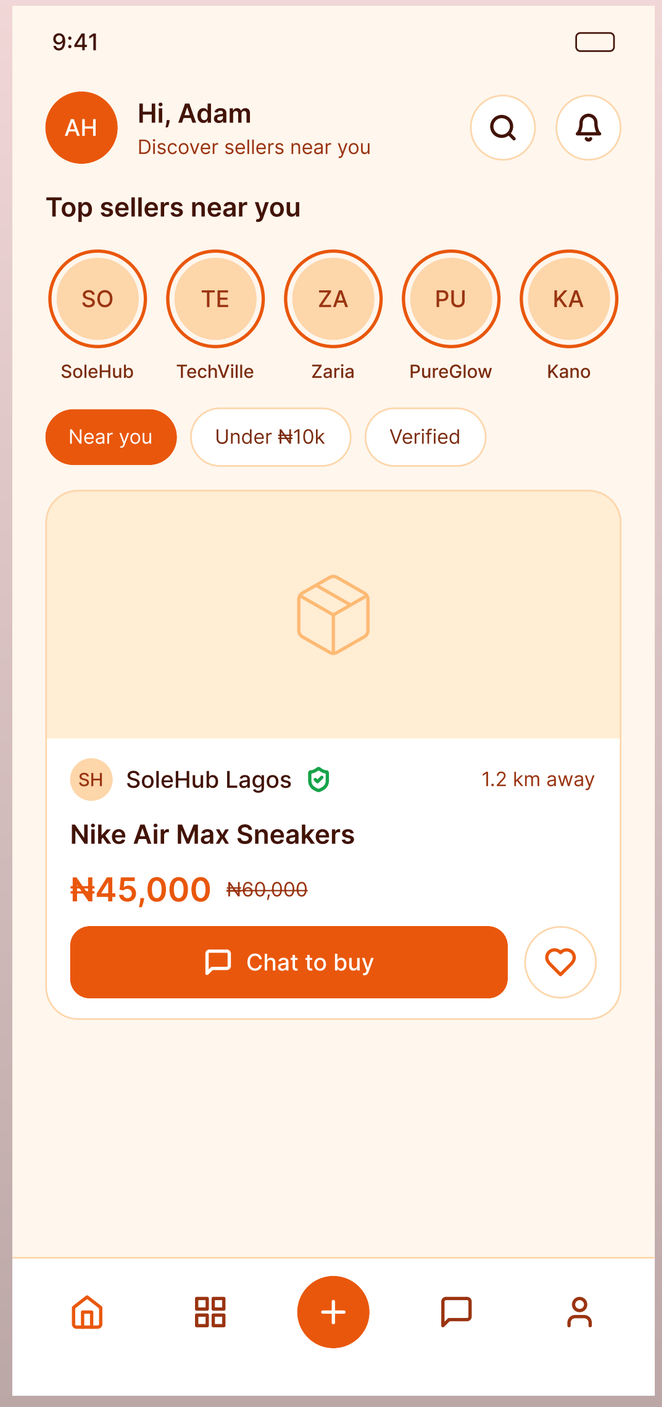

Concept B · Immersive Dark

Visual storytelling, bold hero, premium feel.

Concept C · Community Local

Seller-led, warm and social, chat-to-buy.

My pick: Concept A

Clean Utility is the strongest direction for ShopHive. It lets a shopper search, see prices and start browsing within seconds.

Why it is stronger than B and C

- Search and delivery location are the first things you see, so buyers can start straight away.
- Prices, ratings and a deal timer show on the first screen, which builds trust and speeds up decisions.
- B looks premium but hides product details behind large visuals, and a dark theme suits browsing more than buying.
- C builds community, but one large listing at a time makes comparing products slow and puts sellers ahead of products.

Tool used

Claude (AI assistant) connected to Figma generated all three directions from a text prompt describing the Home screen and three different design strategies.